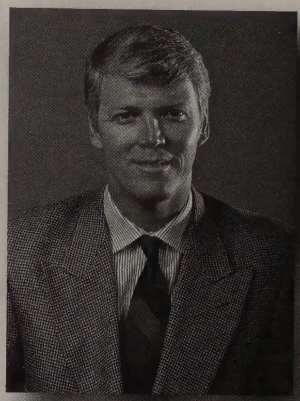
ALLAN BRISTOW

VICE PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS



When Allan Bristow returned to Denver on Feb. 12, 1997, to assume the task of rebuilding the Nuggets, he did not have time to reminisce.

Signing on as the team's Vice President of Basketball Operations, Bristow inherited a franchise that posted only one winning season and made five NBA Lottery appearances against just two playoff trips since he left in 1990 after spending six successful years as an assistant coach to Doug Moe. Clearly, there was work to be done.

Bristow immediately addressed the Nuggets' condition. On the job just eight days, he engineered three separate trades that allowed Denver to regain future salary cap flexibility. Following the second-worst season in franchise history, he named popular former Nuggets player Bill Hanzlik as the team's 14th head coach on May 29th.

In June, he guided the Nuggets through transactions that yielded three first round picks - Tony Battie, Danny Fortson and Bobby Jackson. Prior to training camp, the Nuggets acquired small forward Eric Williams and signed free-agent center Dean Garrett. In all, the team's '97-98 roster begins the season with 11 new faces and gives Nuggets fans hope for a bright future.

His second stint in Denver follows a six-year tenure with the Charlotte Hornets from '90-96. During that span, he first served as the team's Vice President of Basketball Operations for the '90-91 season and then as the head coach from '91-96.

He posted a 207-203 (.505) record on the bench with the Hornets, compiling an outstanding record of 28-18 (.609) in games decided by two points or fewer, including a 13-4 (.765) mark in one-point contests. He twice guided the Hornets to the NBA Playoffs.

After taking over for a 26-56 third-year expansion team in '91, he quickly built Charlotte into a consistent winner loaded with some of the top talent in the NBA. After registering a 31-51 mark in his first campaign (his only sub-.500 mark as a head coach), Bristow's Hornets were 176-152 (.537) in the subsequent four seasons.

During his time as head coach, the Hornets averaged 105.9 ppg and ranked in the NBA's top 10 in scoring four times.

The Nuggets went 277-215 (.563) during Bristow's stint as Moe's assistant, winning the Midwest Division twice (1984-85 and '87-88) and reaching the playoffs in all six seasons. Denver reached the 1985 Western Conference Finals, falling to the eventual NBA Champion LA Lakers.

With 23 years of professional basketball experience on his resume, Bristow is skilled as a former player, head coach and executive.

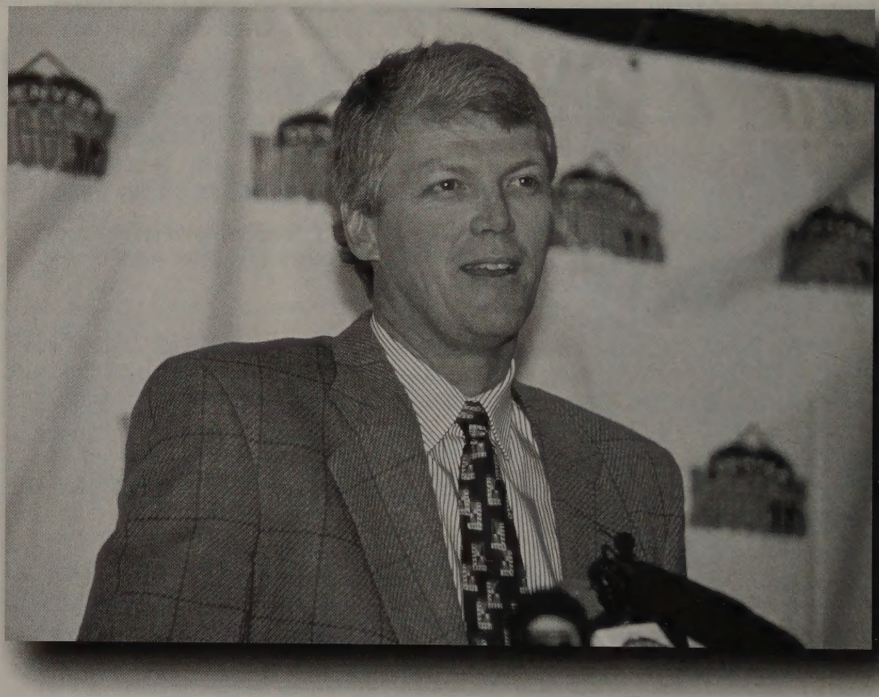
ALLAN BRISTOW

A native of Richmond, Va., Bristow arrived in the NBA after averaging 23.1 ppg as a collegian at Virginia Tech from '69-73, leading the Hokies to the National Invitation Tournament title as a senior with a 92-91 overtime victory over Notre Dame. The 6-foot-7 forward was selected by Philadelphia in the second round of the 1973 NBA Draft (21st overall) and played two seasons for the 76ers before signing with San Antonio in '75.

He played for the Spurs from '75-79, including three seasons under head coach Doug Moe. In '79, Bristow signed with Utah and played for two seasons for the Jazz before finishing his playing career with Dallas from '81-83.

Regarded as a hard-nosed competitor and one of the top passing forwards in the NBA, Bristow's career averages of 7.8 ppg, 4.0 rpg and 3.2 apg are testaments to his unselfish and all-around style of play.

Bristow, 46, is an avid outdoorsman and enjoys fishing, hunting and boating. He was inducted into the Virginia Hall of Fame in the summer of 1997. He and his wife, Etoila, have two daughters, Sandee Jewel and Jenny Lee.



BILL HANZLIK

HEAD COACH

When Allan Bristow was searching for the new head coach of the Denver Nuggets, his goal was to put a new face on a sagging franchise in hopes of turning the club's fortunes around. While the face is not new to Nuggets fans, the turnaround is.

Bill Hanzlik became the 14th head coach in team history on May 29, 1997, and the third former Nuggets player to coach the club, joining Larry Brown (1974-79) and Dan Issel ('92-95).

"Bill Hanzlik is the perfect fit for the Denver Nuggets organization," said Bristow. "He has an outstanding basketball mind, has fantastic rapport with players, is a tremendous ambassador in the community and has deep roots in this franchise's history. He knows the type of basketball the fans in this town want to see and will work tirelessly to help return the Nuggets to glory."

Hanzlik, 39, spent last season as an assistant for the NBA's all-time winningest coach Lenny Wilkens and the Atlanta Hawks, who finished with a record of 56-26 and advanced to the Eastern Conference Semifinals. He was selected to serve as Red Auerbach's assistant for the Eastern Conference in the 1997 Rookie Game during the NBA All-Star Weekend held in Cleveland.

Previously, he was an assistant coach for Bristow with the Charlotte Hornets from '91-96. In Hanzlik's six seasons as an assistant coach in the NBA, his teams posted an overall record of 263-229 (.535), won at least 50 games twice, made three playoff appearances and averaged 44 victories per season.

One of the most beloved players in the history of the franchise, Hanzlik was with Denver from '82-91. The Nuggets posted a cumulative record of 360-296 (.549) during his career, capturing two Midwest Division titles ('84-85 and '87-88) and earning at least 45 wins four times (including at least 50 twice).

Denver qualified for the playoffs eight-straight times during his career, advancing to the second round four times and reaching the Western Conference Finals in 1985. One of the club's most memorable playoff moments came on May 14, 1988 when Hanzlik drained the game-winning shot with three seconds remaining to give the Nuggets a 107-105 victory over Dallas in Game Three of the Western Conference Semifinals.

Originally the 20th overall selection in the 1980 NBA Draft by Seattle, Hanzlik played two seasons for the SuperSonics before he was traded to Denver along with a first round pick in exchange for David Thompson on July 20, 1982. The trade originally took place on June 17, 1982 and included Sonics forward Wally Walker instead of Hanzlik, but an arbitrator nullified the deal when Walker's rights were ruled non-transferable due to his free agent status.

The 6-foot-7 Hanzlik forged a successful Nuggets career with a reputation for versatility, having played all five positions, and tenacity, often drawing memorable defensive assignments against much bigger players such as the Lakers' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Houston's Ralph Sampson and New York's Patrick Ewing. He was named to the NBA's All-Defensive Second Team in 1986 and still ranks prominently in the Nuggets all-time record book. He is fifth in games played (593), sixth in assists (1,764), 16th in points (4,546) and 18th in rebounds (1,639).

In the club's postseason records, Hanzlik ranks third in games played (54), fourth in assists (147), fourth in steals (43) and 15th in points (388). His top statistical season as a Nugget came in '86-87 when he posted career-best averages of 13.0 ppg and 3.5 rpg. Interestingly, he finished his career with 2,058 rebounds and 2,058 assists.

BILL HANZLIK

Hanzlik led the Nuggets in games played twice ('82-83 and '89-90) and disqualifications twice ('83-84 and '84-85). He recorded a career-high 33 points against Dallas on Nov. 14, 1986 and grabbed a career-best 11 boards against Philadelphia on Jan. 23, 1982 while with Seattle.

Hanzlik, who was unable to play in his final season due to a back injury, played the final game of his career on May 1, 1990 against San Antonio in the first round of the 1990 NBA Playoffs.

A four-year letterman at Notre Dame from '76-80, Hanzlik graduated with a degree in mechanical engineering and was a co-captain his senior year on a squad that featured John Paxson, Kelly Tripucka and Orlando Woolridge.

He was selected to play on the 1980 U.S. Men's Olympic Team, along with future NBA standouts Mark Aguirre, Rolando Blackman, Sam Bowie, Isiah Thomas and Buck Williams. That squad would have been the youngest team in the history of men's Olympic basketball but was part of a boycott of the Summer Olympics held in Moscow due to the former Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan.

Every summer since he was a player for the Nuggets in 1988, Hanzlik has operated a non-profit basketball skills camp for boys and girls in Denver through the Gold Crown Foundation, which he co-founded with Colorado business leader Ray Baker. Hanzlik has never drawn one cent of salary from his camps or his foundation.

Besides his camps, Hanzlik's Gold Crown Foundation now operates different youth basketball programs year round, including the Denver Nuggets Youth Competitive League, which, with over 3,000 participants, is the largest basketball program in Colorado for junior high-age students.

Born Dec. 6, 1957 in Middletown, Ohio, William Henry Hanzlik graduated from Beloit Memorial High School in Beloit, Wis., in 1976. He and his wife, Maribeth, are the proud parents of four children - Meghan, Molly, Robby and Gillian.

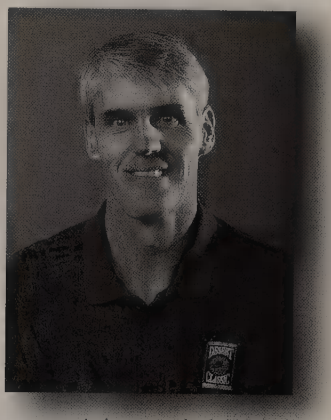
BRIAN WINTERS

ASSISTANT COACH



Brian Winters was named assistant coach of the Denver Nuggets on June 11, 1997. Winters became the first assistant hired to head coach Bill Hanzlik's coaching staff.

"Brian is a very knowledgeable coach and gets along great with players," said Hanzlik. "He's a tremendous analyst of the game, and he's a great person. We feel strongly he will be a great guy to have on our bench."

Winters, 45, has 20 years of NBA experience to his credit - nine as a player, nine as an assistant coach and two as a head coach. He was the first head coach of the expansion Vancouver Grizzlies from 1995-97. Previously, he spent two years (1993-95) as an assistant coach with the Atlanta Hawks and seven seasons (1986-93) as an assistant coach with the Cleveland Cavaliers - all under Lenny Wilkens, the winningest coach in NBA history.

During his nine-year tenure as an NBA assistant coach, Winters' teams posted a record of 415-323 (.562), qualified for the playoffs seven times, and captured one Central Division title (Atlanta, 1993-94). Four of those teams won at least 50 games, including a high of 57 on three occasions (Atlanta, 1993-94; Cleveland, 1991-92 and 1988-89).

After completing his NBA playing career, Winters spent two years as an assistant coach at Princeton University (1984-86) under Hall of Famer and current Sacramento Kings assistant coach Pete Carril, before teaming up with Wilkens in 1986.

The 6-foot-4 Winters spent the bulk of his NBA playing days with the Milwaukee Bucks (1975-83), where he was an NBA All-Star in 1976 and 1978. He averaged 16.2 ppg for his career (10,537 points), including a career-high 19.9 ppg in 1977-78. He never averaged fewer than 10.6 ppg in his nine years.

Winters completed his career as Milwaukee's third all-time leading scorer (9,743 points) and still ranks in the top 10 in virtually every career offensive category in Bucks history. On Oct. 28, 1983, Milwaukee retired his jersey number 32. He became one of only seven former Bucks players to have their numbers retired, joining Oscar Robertson, Jon McGlocklin, Bob Lanier, Junior Bridgeman, Sidney Moncrief and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

Originally the 12th overall selection in the 1974 NBA Draft by Los Angeles, Winters played his rookie season with the Lakers, where he averaged 11.7 ppg and was named to the NBA's All-Rookie team. Following his first year in the league, on June 16, 1975, he was traded to Milwaukee along with Elmore Smith, Dave Meyers and Junior Bridgeman in exchange for Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Walt Wesley.

Winters enjoyed an outstanding college career at the University of South Carolina. He scored 1,079 points in three seasons of varsity ball and earned All-America honors as a senior when he averaged 20.0 ppg and led the Gamecocks to a 22-win season.

Born March 1, 1952 in Rockaway, N.Y., Brian Joseph Winters graduated from Archbishop Malloy High School in Jamaica, N.Y. in 1970. He and his wife, Julie, have six children - daughters Cara, Keelin and Meghan, and sons, Brendan, Kevin and Ryan.

T.R. DUNN

ASSISTANT COACH

T.R. Dunn returns to the Mile High City, this time as an assistant coach for the Nuggets. Dunn joins Brian Winters as the assistants to head coach Bill Hanzlik.

"I couldn't be more pleased that T.R. has come on board with us," said Hanzlik. "He has tremendous knowledge of the game and is an outstanding coach. Nuggets fans remember him for his unbelievable work ethic on the floor and they will see that same approach from him on the bench. He is a tremendous asset for this franchise."

Dunn comes back to Denver after spending the last six seasons as an assistant coach for the Charlotte Hornets, the first five under Nuggets Vice President for Basketball Operations, Allan Bristow.

Dunn and Hanzlik have spent a total of 13 seasons together in the NBA - eight as teammates ('82-88, '89-91 in Denver) and five as assistant coaches ('91-96 in Charlotte). During Dunn's tenure with the Hornets, Charlotte posted a combined regular-season record of 261-231 (.530) - including a franchise-best 54-28 in '96-97 - and made three post-season appearances.

No stranger to Nuggets fans, Theodore Roosevelt Dunn played for Denver from 1980-88 and '89-91 and remains a fixture in the club's record books. He is second all-time in steals (1,070), fourth in games played (734), fourth in minutes played (18,322) and 21st in scoring (3,585). In the Nuggets post-season lists, he recorded the most steals in a single game (seven, vs. Portland on April 20, 1986) and is first in steals (83), second in games played (58), second in offensive rebounds (119), third in total rebounds (287), fourth in defensive rebounds (168) and 22nd in scoring (238).

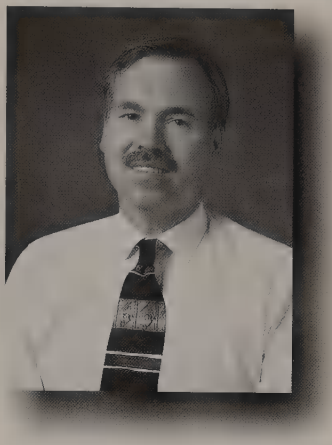
Known as a defensive stalwart throughout his playing days, the 6-foot-4 Dunn was named to the NBA's All-Defensive Second Team three times ('83-85) and was considered one of the top rebounding guards in the NBA throughout his career. From '78 through '88, Dunn missed just six games due to injury.

Originally drafted by Portland with the 41st pick of the 1977 NBA Draft, Dunn was a four-year letterman at Alabama from '73-77 and finished his collegiate career with a scoring average of 11.2 ppg. He spent his first three seasons in the league with the Trail Blazers before he was traded to Denver for future considerations on Aug. 15, 1980. He then spent 10 of the next 11 seasons as a Nugget, save for the '88-89 season when he played for Phoenix.

He and his wife, Cynthia, have two sons - Schmohn and Keenan.

MICHAEL D'ANTONI

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL



After a 20-year hiatus, Mike D'Antoni returns to the NBA to serve as the Nuggets Director of Player Personnel.

D'Antoni, 46, assists with the day-to-day operations of the basketball office by coordinating the Nuggets scouting efforts and talent evaluations of collegiate, NBA, CBA and foreign players. He also assists with draft preparation, and scheduling the team's training camp and preseason games.

"I have a tremendous amount of confidence in Mike," said team Vice President for Basketball Operations Allan Bristow. "He is an excellent communicator, has extraordinary basketball knowledge and is an outstanding addition to our staff."

He served as the head coach for Benetton of the Italian League for the last three years and led the club to the 1997 Italian League Championship, defeating Teamsystem Bologna, 3-2. Benetton also captured the Italian Cup under D'Antoni.

Previously, he coached Milan from 1990-93 and led that team to the 1993 Korac Cup. He posted an overall record of 144-68 as a head coach in Italy, including 22-4 in '96-97. He was selected to coach the Italian League All Star Team twice and served as an assistant coach for that elite squad two times as well.

Originally the 20th pick in the 1973 NBA Draft by Kansas City-Omaha, D'Antoni played for the Kings for two-plus seasons before jumping to the Spirit of St. Louis of the ABA in '75. He concluded his NBA career with San Antonio, coached by Doug Moe, in '76.

D'Antoni then played 13 years for Milan in the Italian League, leading his teams to five league championships, two European Cups and two Intercontinental Cups and was one of the top players in the history of the league. He was a member of the Milan squad that competed in the first McDonald's Open, held in Milwaukee in '87, and was on the Italian national team for World Cup competition in '89.

A native of Mullens, W.Va., D'Antoni played collegiately at Marshall University from '69-73 and will be inducted to the school's Hall of Fame in November. He and his wife, Laurel, have one son, Michael.

JIM GILLEN

One of the top athletic trainers in the NBA, Gillen is in his seventh season with the Nuggets. He is responsible for the treatment and rehabilitation of all injuries, in conjunction with the team's medical staff. In addition, he serves as the team's travel coordinator and works closely with strength and conditioning coach Steve Hess to monitor the Nuggets workout regimen and diet.

Gillen traveled across town in 1991 to join the Nuggets after serving as the assistant trainer for the Denver Broncos from 1987-90. During his tenure with the Broncos, Gillen accompanied the team to three Super Bowls.

Prior to joining the Broncos, Gillen was a trainer for the AMI/Denver Broncos Sports Medicine Clinic in 1987 and served as the head trainer at Overland High School from 1982-86 and Aurora Central High School from 1980-82.

After receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees from Fort Hays State (Kan.), Gillen was the head trainer at Roosevelt High School in San Antonio before moving to Denver.

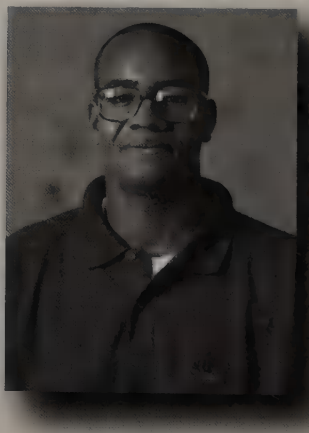
A member of the National Athletic Trainers Association and the National Strength and Conditioning Association, Gillen is a past president of the Colorado Athletic Trainers Association. He currently serves as the Western Conference representative on the Executive Board of the NBA Trainers Association.

Gillen was selected by his peers to be an assistant on the Western Conference training staff for the 1995 NBA All-Star Weekend and was a member of the 1987 NFL Training Staff of the Year while with the Broncos.

A native of Meade, Kan., Gillen and his wife, Dawn, have three daughters, Jamee, Amanda and Rachel, and one son, J.D. They reside in Aurora, Colo.

MAX BENTON

ASSISTANT ATHLETIC TRAINER



Assisting Jim Gillen with the day-to-day activities in the training room is Max Benton. In his third year as the team's assistant athletic trainer, Benton also oversees the players' rehabilitation, conditioning and equipment maintenance.

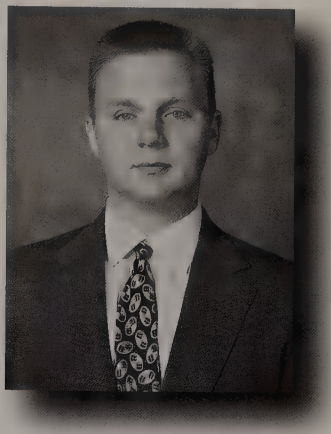
He came to the Nuggets in 1995 from the University of Colorado, where he was a student assistant in the Buffaloes' sports medicine department from 1990-95, working primarily with football, men's basketball and men's and women's track. Benton was on staff when the Buffaloes won the 1990 national championship in football.

In addition to his work at CU, Benton was a student intern for the Denver Broncos training staff for two years and received the Pro Football Athletic Trainers Ethnic Minority Scholarship in 1993. He also served as a student intern for the Colorado Rockies and taught a course in athletic training at CU during his undergraduate work.

A native of Fort Collins, Colo., Benton is a certified member of the National Athletic Trainers Association and served as a host when the NATA national convention was held in Denver in 1992.

BILL BRANCH

DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING



Joining the Nuggets basketball staff this season is Bill Branch, who will coordinate the team's advance scouting for NBA opponents and work in conjunction with Mike D'Antoni to oversee the evaluation of collegiate talent.

In addition to those duties, Branch is also responsible for the recording and editing of all the Nuggets contests as well as hundreds of collegiate, CBA and foreign games. These tapes are used to evaluate team personnel, upcoming opponents and to assist in preparation for the NBA Draft.

Branch, 31, comes to the Nuggets from Charlotte, where he spent the previous 10 seasons on the Hornets' basketball operations staff. He served as the team's Director of Scouting from 1995-97, managing the day-to-day operations of the department as well as overseeing the team's computerized and video scouting services.

Prior to that, he was an administrative assistant in the Player Personnel department from '87-91 before he was promoted to scout for the '91-92 season. He originally joined the Hornets in '87 as the expansion team's first intern.

A native of McLeansville, N.C., Branch graduated from Lenior-Rhyne College in 1988 with a degree in sports management. He owns and operates Bareback Soap Company, a micro-soapery that develops all-natural herbal soaps. He married the former Monicah McGee on November 15th of this year.

STEVE HESS

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

Recognizing the need for year-round physical maintenance, the Denver Nuggets hired Steve Hess as the club's first full-time strength and conditioning coach last May.

Hess, in conjunction with Nuggets' athletic trainer Jim Gillen, oversees the strength, conditioning and nutritional programs for the team's players.

Working individually with each player, Hess monitors fitness workouts throughout the year and tailors individual workout programs to fit specific needs.

A native of Johannesburg, South Africa, Hess has served as the head personal trainer at Greenwood Athletic Club since 1997, overseeing the entire fitness regimen for the personal training department and a staff of 25 personal trainers. He has worked at the club since 1994.

A 1991 graduate of Ithaca College (N.Y.) with a master's degree in physical education with an emphasis on athletic training and a bachelor's degree in exercise science fitness and cardiac rehabilitation, Hess is an amateur body builder and was the first runnerup in the bantam weight division of the 1996 Mr. Colorado contest. MEDIA INFORMATION

JERRY SCHEMMEL

RADIO BROADCASTER

Since 1992, Nuggets fans have enjoyed the exciting and polished delivery of Jerry Schemmel, one of the top play-by-play announcers in the NBA.

Schemmel came to the Nuggets from the Minnesota Timberwolves, where he was the team's announcer on Prime Sports telecasts from 1990-92.

Other professional basketball experience includes a year as the deputy commissioner and legal counsel for the Continental Basketball Association (1989) as well as four seasons as the marketing director and radio/television voice of the Kansas City/Topeka Sizzlers (1985-89).

Additionally, he was an announcer for CBA contests on ESPN and served as a backup announcer on several broadcasts for the Colorado Rockies baseball team. Schemmel has called action for several track and field championships and other sporting events.

A licensed attorney, Schemmel received his juris doctorate from Washburn University (Kan.) in 1985 and practiced law in Topeka from 1985-89. While attending law school, he was an assistant baseball coach for the Ichabods and was the school's play-by-play announcer for football and basketball.

He received his bachelor's degree in radio and television broadcasting from Washburn in 1982 and was a two-year letterman on the school's baseball squad. Playing shortstop and second base, Schemmel was an Academic All-American selection as a junior and senior.

Recently, Schemmel penned, "Chosen to Live", a book dealing with his survival of United Airlines Flight 232, which crashed in Sioux City, Iowa, on July 19, 1989. The book has been on Denver's local best-selling list since its release in the summer of 1996.

Schemmel is the president of Victory Publishing, a Denver-based book publishing company. He is also a nationally-known motivational speaker, delivering inspirational talks involving his survival of Flight 232.

A native of Madison, S.D., Schemmel and his wife, Diane, reside in Littleton with their daughter, Maggie.

DREW GOODMAN

TELEVISION BROADCASTER

One of the most versatile broadcasters in sports, Drew Goodman is in his fourth season as the television play-by-play announcer for the Nuggets telecasts on Fox Sports Rocky Mountain (formerly Prime Sports). This season marks the 10th year that Goodman has been involved with the network's telecasts as pre-game host, coaches show host and announcer.

Goodman was bitten by the performing bug early in life, as both of his parents were professional actors. This summer he did play-by-play for Fox Sports Net's National coverage of major league baseball. He continues to work in the booth for Fox Sports Net's National Prime-Time Saturday Nite College Football game of the week in the Big 12.

The last two years he served as studio host and on-ice reporter for Colorado Avalanche telecasts. In 1993, he was hired by NBC to work play-by-play for NFL broadcasts, and in '94 he covered beach volleyball for CBS as part of their "Eye on Sports" series. He also covers a great deal of college football, basketball and baseball for Fox Sports, ESPN, Jefferson Pilot Sports and others.

Not limited to the four major team sports, Goodman called tennis action for Prime's initial year of ATP tour coverage in '90. In the fall of '93, he called the play-by-play for the first-ever ATP tennis event - the Beijing Open - in mainland China for worldwide distribution on Prime International. For the last eight years, Goodman has covered men's and women's World Cup and pro ski racing for ESPN and has also been involved with the coverage of track and field, gymnastics, wrestling and golf.

In the studio, Goodman has hosted numerous programs during his tenure with Fox Sports, including the "Denver Nuggets Coaches Show", the "Big 12 Gridiron Report", the "Big Ten Report", the WAC Magazine and Golf Colorado. On the radio, he has hosted various talk shows for KOA and KKFN, including a five year run as the host of the popular Denver Broncos post-game show on the team's radio network. He has also hosted a post-game show for the Colorado Rockies as well as a number of other sports talk shows in Denver.

A native of New York, Goodman received his bachelor's degree in communications from Ithaca College in 1985. He and his wife, Kristi, reside in Denver.

ALEX ENGLISH

TELEVISION ANALYST

Joining the broadcast crew this season is former Nuggets great Alex English, who will provide analysis for the team's televised games. The franchise's all-time leading scorer, English still holds 31 records for Denver and was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame on September 29th of this year, joining former teammates Dan Issel ('93) and David Thompson ('96) as the only Nuggets to be so honored.

While this is his first season as an analyst in the NBA, English is by no means a newcomer to the entertainment industry. He had a leading role in the motion picture "Amazing Grace and Chuck" as well as supporting roles in a number of television shows and music videos. In addition, he has published three books of poetry.

In his 11-year career with the Nuggets, he amassed a team-record 21,645 points. Along the way, he became the first NBA player to ever score at least 2,000 points in eight-straight seasons and has the unique distinction of being the league's leading scorer in the decade of the '80s with 19,682 points over that span.

English still ranks seventh on the NBA's all-time scoring list (25,613) and seventh on the league's all-time games played list (1,193). An eight-time NBA All-Star, English helped lead the Nuggets to the playoffs nine times in his career, capturing the Midwest Division title in '85 and '88. In '82-83, he led the NBA in scoring with an average of 28.4 ppg.

Active off the floor in numerous charitable events, English was the recipient of the 1985 "Spirit of Love Award" given by the NBA Players Association for initiating and leading the NBA's drive to aid the famine in Ethiopia, which raised over $200,000. He was also selected for the 1988 J. Walter Kennedy Award given by the Pro Basketball Writers Association of America in recognition for his outstanding civic contributions.

One of four Nuggets to have their jerseys retired (he wore No. 2), English resides in Blythewood, S.C. He and his wife, Vanessa, have six children - Imani, Jade-Li, Alex Jr., William, James and Joseph.

DAN ISSEL

TELEVISION ANALYST

Dan Issel returns to the broadcasting table for the Nuggets this season, serving as the analyst for the team's televised games. One of the greatest players in franchise history, "The Horse" played for Denver from 1975-85 and remains one of the most popular sports figures in Colorado.

Issel, inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in '93 and one of the most prolific scorers in NBA history, was a commentator for the Nuggets from 1988-92 before becoming the team's head coach from '92-95.

An All-Star in both the ABA and NBA, Issel was honored in '85 with the J. Walter Kennedy Award for his outstanding community service by the Professional Basketball Writers Association of America.

One of the most durable players in pro basketball, Issel played in 1,218 of 1,242 possible games in his 15-year career. He helped lead the Nuggets to the '85 Midwest title and the '85 Western Conference Finals. In all, he helped lead the Nuggets to the playoffs eight times in his career

When he retired in '85, he was the Nuggets all-time leading scorer and rebounder after recording 16,589 points and 6,630 rebounds in his career here. He still ranks among the top five in nearly every statistical category in the Nuggets record book.

Issel is also fifth on the combined ABA/NBA all-time scoring list with 27,482 points, trailing only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Wilt Chamberlain, Julius Erving and Moses Malone. He is also one of four Nuggets to have their jersey number retired - his fabled No. 44 hangs from the rafters in McNichols Arena in honor of his outstanding play and loyalty throughout his career.

As the Nuggets' coach, he took a team that had won just 44 games in the two seasons prior to his arrival and led them to the playoffs in just two seasons.

Active in the Denver and national media, Issel co-hosts an afternoon radio sports talk show on the Nuggets flagship station, KKFN 950 AM, and serves as an NBA analyst for national telecasts on NBC. He and his wife, Cheri, have two children - Sheridan and Scott.

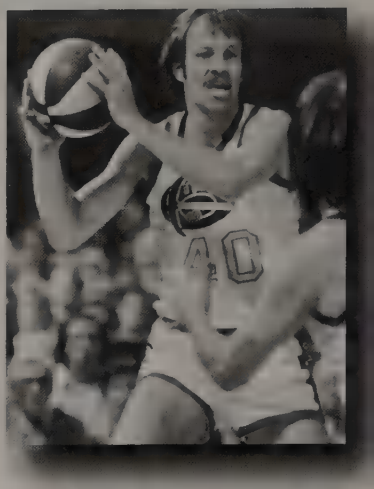
RETIRED NUGGETS NUMBERS

40 - BYRON BECK

JERSEY NUMBER RETIRED: DECEMBER 16, 1977



Byron Beck's name can be found next to the word "first" in several places in the Nuggets history books. He was the first player signed by the original Denver Rockets franchise in 1967 and fittingly, his was the first number retired by the Nuggets.

Beck, who played for the Rockets/Nuggets from 1967-77, was one of the best pure shooters in ABA history, and his sweeping hook shot was a team trademark for its first 10 years.

The two-time ABA All-Star (1969; '76) never averaged more than 14.5 points per game in a season; nonetheless, he stands in fifth place on the Nuggets all-time scoring list (8,603) - a true reflection of his consistentcy. In addition, he ranks second in rebounds (5,261) and third in games played (747).

Beck always stepped up his play at crunch time. In the 1973 ABA Playoffs, Beck averaged nearly 20 points per night. In 1976, he helped lead the Nuggets to the ABA Finals. Beck appeared in 66 playoff games with Denver, posting a 12.8 scoring average - more than a point per game more than his career regular season average.

The former University of Denver star was a fan-favorite and his work in the community earned him considerable respect off the court. Beck was the leading Nugget in personal appearances and he was the Denver sports co-chairman for Labor Day's Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

44 - DAN ISSEL

JERSEY NUMBER RETIRED: APRIL 5, 1985

The name Dan Issel became synonymous with the Denver Nuggets during his playing days from 1975-85 and it still is today. Nicknamed "The Horse", Issel is one of the most popular sports figures in Colorado history.

Issel never failed to respond when duty called and was one of the most durable players in pro basketball history. In his 15-year pro career, Issel played in 1,218 of 1,242 possible games.

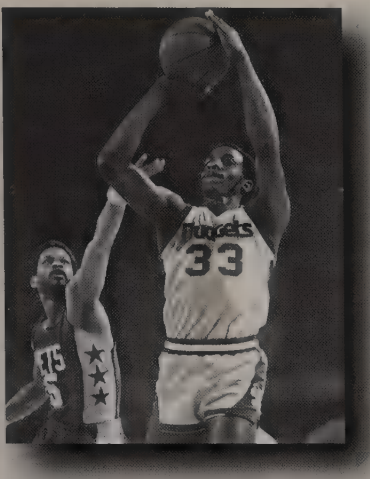
When he retired in 1985, he left as the Nuggets all-time leading scorer and rebounder after notching 16,589 points and 6,630 boards. He still ranks among the top five in nearly every statistical category on the Nuggets all-time list.

One of the most prolific scorers in basketball history, Issel ranks fifth in the combined ABA/NBA all-time scoring list with 27,482 points. He trails only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Wilt Chamberlain, Julius Erving and Moses Malone.

There was more to Issel than his on the court prowess, however. He was also a leader in the community. In 1985, the Professional Basketball Writers Association of America recognized that and presented Issel with the J. Walter Kennedy Award for community service.

In 1992, Issel returned to the Nuggets, this time as their head coach. Issel orchestrated a tremendous turnaround, taking a club that had won just 44 games in two years prior to his arrival and leading them to the NBA Playoffs in just two seasons.

"The Horse", a 1976 ABA All-Star and a '77 NBA All-Star, became the first Nugget to be elected into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1993.



33 - DAVID THOMPSON

JERSEY NUMBER RETIRED: NOVEMBER 7, 1992

Before there was Michael Jordan, there was David Thompson. Nicknamed "Skywalker", Thompson dazzled Nuggets fans from 1975-82 with his incredible leaping ability, crowd-pleasing dunks and seemingly effortless scoring ability.

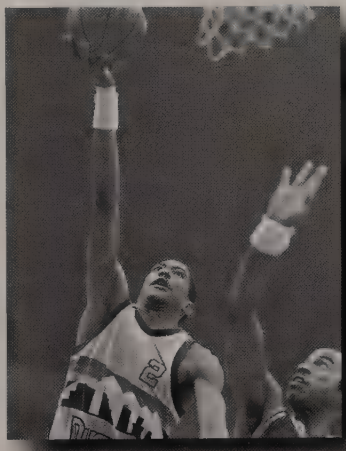
In his seven seasons, Thompson racked up 11,992 points - good for third on Denver's all-time scoring list. In addition, he still ranks in the top five in nearly every major scoring category in Nuggets history.

After the Nuggets acquired his draft rights in 1975, Thompson made an immediate impact. In his first year, he captured ABA and pro basketball Rookie of the Year honors after averaging 26.0 points per game. He was also named MVP of the 1976 ABA All-Star Game.

Nothing changed when the Nuggets entered the NBA. "DT" was named to the All-NBA First Team in 1977 and '78 and he made three-straight NBA All-Star appearances, earning MVP honors in the 1979 contest. He is the only player to ever be named MVP in both an ABA and an NBA All-Star game.

On April 9, 1978, the 6'4" guard poured in a career-high 73 points against the Detroit Pistons. The 73 points are a Nugget single-game record and are the second-most ever scored by an individual in a non-overtime game in league history.

Thompson was traded to Seattle in the summer of 1982, ending his illlustrious seven-year career in Denver. DT was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1996.



2 - ALEX ENGLISH

JERSEY NUMBER RETIRED: MARCH 2, 1993

Alex English's career can best be summed up with one word: consistency. In 10 of his 11 seasons with the Nuggets (1979-90), English averaged better than 21 points per game. In eight of those 11 years, he scored more than 25 per game.

When he departed as a free agent in 1990, English left as the Nuggets all-time leading scorer - having notched 21,654 points - and his career average of 25.9 ppg is the best in Nuggets history. He also ranks 7th on the NBA's all-time scoring list.

The eight-time NBA All-Star is also the Nuggets career leader in games played, minutes played, field goals made, field goals attempted and assists. He ranks third in rebounds and steals.

In each of his first 10 seasons with the Nuggets, English finished among the top 10 in the NBA in scoring. In 1982-83, he became the first and only Nugget to lead the league in scoring with a 28.4 average. English also holds the distinction of leading the NBA in scoring during the decade of the '80s, after compiling 19,682 points.

A second-team All-NBA member in 1982, '83 and '86, English guided the Nuggets to Division championships in 1984-85 and '87-88.

Also a leader in the community, English was presented the J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award for community service in 1988. In 1985, he convinced NBA players to donate their shares from the All-Star game to Interaction Ethiopia, a relief fund.

He was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1997.

THE HIGHEST SCORING GAME IN NBA HISTORY

An unassuming crowd of 9,655 fans filed into McNichols Arena on December 13, 1983, unaware that they were about to witness NBA history.

On this winter night, the Pistons and Nuggets battled back-and-forth in one of the most exciting games of all time. Detroit, led by All-Star guard Isiah Thomas' 47 points, overcame a horrendous night at the foul line (37-60) and outlasted the Nuggets, 186-184, in triple overtime. The game still stands as the highest scoring contest in league history.

What makes that mark even more incredible is that only two three-point field goals were made the entire night.

In all, six NBA records were broken in all including: most points, both teams, game (370); most points, one team, game (Detroit, 186); most players with 40-or-more-points, game (4); most field goals made, both teams, game (142); most field goals made, one team, game (Detroit, 74) and most assists, both teams, game (93).

All six still stand today.

DAVID THOMPSON'S 73-POINT GAME

On April 9, 1978, David Thompson became just the second player in NBA history (Wilt Chamberlain) to score more than 72 points in a game as he hit for 73 against the Detroit Pistons on the final day of the regular season at Detroit's Cobo Arena.

DT broke the NBA record for points in a quarter (32 in the 1st) and field goals in a quarter (18 in the 1st).

His 73 points still stand as the most scored by an individual in Nuggets history and are the second-most (Wilt Chamberlain, 100) ever scored in a non-overtime game in NBA annals.

Despite DT's heroics, the Nuggets lost 139-137.

In Bird's playing career with Boston ('79-92), the Celtics were 18-8 against Denver ... The Pacers' Mark Jackson became the first player other than John Stockton to lead the NBA in assists since Magic Johnson did so in '86-87 ... 641 of Jackson's 935 assists last season came in a Nuggets uniform - he appeared in 52 games for Denver before returning to Indiana on 2/20/97 along with LaSalle Thompson in exchange for Vincent Askew, Eddie Johnson and two second-round picks.

NBA COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

On the court, Terrell Brandon has distinguished himself as one of the best point guards in the NBA. The two-time All-Star and leader of the Cavaliers is known for his quickness and ability to create scoring opportunities for himself and his teammates. Brandon is also known as one of the true gentlemen of the game, bringing high standards of ethical behavior, fair play and integrity to the hardwood. As a result of his on-court sportsmanship, Brandon was honored as the 1996-97 winner of the NBA Sportsmanship Award. Brandon joined Joe Dumars, the first recipient of the award.

Brandon's award is part of a larger program, the NBA Sportsmanship Initiative, one of several community programs implemented by the league. The initiative also includes the NBA Student-Athlete Sportsmanship Program and a public service campaign.

Players, coaches and teams support programs that positively impact their local communities, especially those programs that benefit youth. NBA players are frequently seen in public service announcements to promote awareness of social issues. They also participate in a variety of community outreach efforts.

The NBA TeamUp program, which made its debut in the 1996-97 season, encourages youth to improve their communities through volunteerism. The program includes a public service campaign, motivational visits by NBA spokesmen and players, and a youth service award.

In conjunction with Reading Is Fundamental, the leading non-profit children's literacy organization in the United States, the NBA helps emphasize the importance of youth literacy. Each March, the NBA and its teams recognize NBA Reading Month by holding "Reading Time-Outs" and book distributions at schools, libraries and youth organizations. The NBA also produces public service announcements focusing on the fun and fundamentals of reading.

In addition, the NBA continues its support of Black History Month, CARE, the King Holiday and the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse.

DENVER NUGGETS TEAM UP FOR KIDS

Among Colorado's sports franchises, the Denver Nuggets lead the way when it comes to getting involved in, and giving back, to the community.

The Denver Nuggets Community Fund strives to help Denver's high-risk youth through sports, health and educational programs. These programs offer unique opportunities to children, alert them to the importance of staying in school and educate them about the importance of avoiding drugs and gangs.

PUTTING UP BIG NUMBERS

Since 1992, the Denver Nuggets Community Fund has donated over $6.5 million to over 70 local charities. The Nuggets Community Fund contributions are a combination of proceeds from the Nuggets fundraising activities and matching funds from the Robert R. McCormick Tribune Foundation.

In addition to the priority youth programs directly sponsored by the Nuggets, recipients of the Denver Nuggets Community Fund grants include: Kempe Children's Foundation (for abused children), Food Bank of the Rockies - Kid's Café, The Children's Hospital, Colorado Special Olympics, YMCA of Metro Denver, Denver Kids, Inc., and Denver Parks and Recreation.

SOMEONE TO LOOK UP TO

Fundraising events as well as programs that motivate kids get a big boost when a "big man" puts in a personal appearance or gets personally involved in making a difference. Nuggets players and coaches give generously of their time, recognizing that being a sports celebrity comes a responsibility to use that notoriety to help others. All the Nuggets players and coaches had to overcome long odds to make it to the NBA. Now they are helping kids to beat the odds by serving as an inspiration, role models and mentors.

GIVE AND TAKE

In addition to youth programs, the Denver Nuggets and the Nuggets Community Fund also reach out in other ways to help the community.

OPERATION CEASE FIRE. Taking guns off the streets. Drawing the public's attention to the problem of violence, the annual "Operation Cease Fire" sponsored by the Nuggets and Crime Stoppers encourages people to turn in firearms in exchange for Nuggets tickets and merchandise. The result: increased awareness and hundreds of fewer guns on the streets.

MOTIVATING KIDS

Stay In School. Be Cool. There's nothing like motivated players on the court - and motivated kids in the classroom. Teaming up with IBM, the Nuggets for the seventh straight year, are taking to the classrooms of all of Denver's 18 public middle schools to encourage kids to make the most of their education.

Kids throughout Colorado also get the message about the importance of education through the "Stay in School with the Denver Nuggets" classroom teaching package developed in conjunction with The Denver Post Newspaper In Education program.

NIGHT MOVES. All the right moves. Getting kids off the street and headed in the right direction is what its all about. That's why the Nuggets devote major financial and staff support to this alternative to the drugs, gangs and crime in two inner city neighborhoods.

Friday and Saturday nights from six to ten p.m. between 150 to 300 kids ages 12 to 18 gather at two Denver rec centers to play sports and socialize in a safe and positive environment. Self-discipline and respect for others are taught along with basketball skills by Denver Parks and Recreation staff.

YMCA JUNIOR NUGGETS. The biggest team around. Over 11,000 girls and boys in Denver, Adams, Jefferson, Arapahoe and Douglas counties learn the value of team work and self-esteem by participating in this non-competitive basketball league where everyone gets a chance to play. The Nuggets Community Fund provides financial support, while Nuggets players, coaches and staff conduct clinics for the kids and their coaches.

PEPSI CENTER

The Pepsi Center will be an ultra-modern sports arena designed to set new standards in fan entertainment, comfort and convenience. The $160 million complex will be home to the Denver Nuggets of the NBA and the 1996 Stanley Cup champion Colorado Avalanche® of the NHL. Planned to open in 1999, the Pepsi Center is a private venture of the Ascent Entertainment Group, Inc.

The multi-purpose Pepsi Center will host professional and amateur basketball and hockey games, as well as concerts, circuses, ice shows and a variety of other sports and family entertainment. In all, the arena is expected to host over 160 events each year.

Located in the Central Platte Valley, the Pepsi Center will be adjacent to Denver's lower downtown and Elitch Gardens Amusement park, near the intersection of Auraria Parkway and Speer Boulevard. A 675,000 square-foot, five-level arena, the Pepsi Center will be a unique facility capable of seating 19,300 for a typical basketball game, 18,100 for a hockey game and up to 20,000 for concerts and other events. It is designed with 95 luxury suites, 1,850 executive club seats, a 250-seat Arena Club restaurant, 20 concession stands with 150 points of sale and 36 public restrooms, along with eight elevators and seven escalators for easy access to all levels.

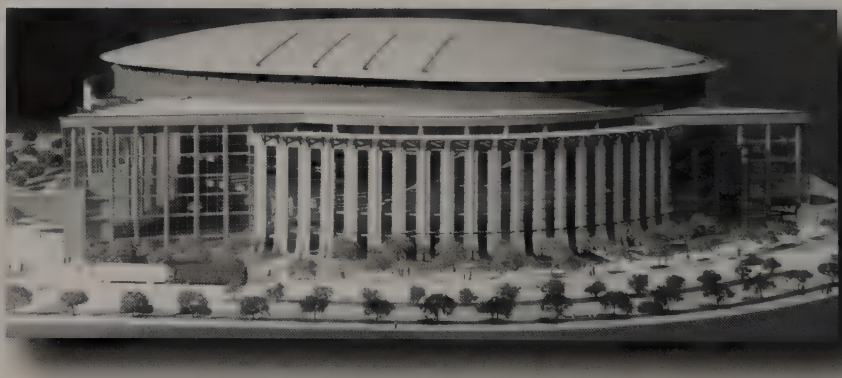
The Pepsi Center will have 4,400 parking spaces - 4,200 regular and 200 disabled, with an additional 2,200 parking spaces to be shared with Elitch's via a pedestrian walkway constructed to connect the facilities, allowing both venues to be more user-friendly.

Additional features include two grand entrances introducing negative slope glass creating dramatic atrium lobbies. The Pepsi Center will also boast a 60,000-lb. State-of-the-art scoreboard hung at centercourt, complemented by cutting-edge sound and lighting systems to make for a dazzling audio/visual experience. There also will be an NBA practice court above the Nuggets locker-room, allowing both the basketball and hockey teams to practice in the arena at the same time.

Safety and convenience will be top priorities at the Pepsi Center. A high-tech security system will be installed to monitor and protect the arena and its occupants. There also will be a fully-equipped first-aid room and fan accommodation area located on the spacious concourse.

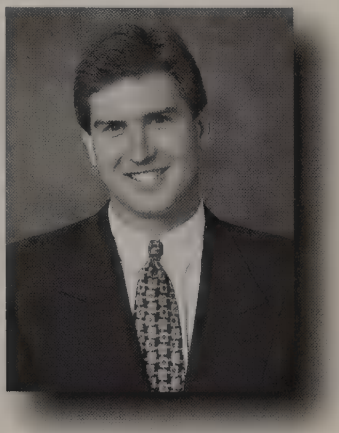
Media facilities, including work rooms, production areas and dining rooms, will be located near the locker rooms on the service level. A full-service broadcast studio, complete with sound stage and editing suites, has also been incorporated. These features, combined with excellent access throughout the Pepsi Center, provide a level of media amenities unlike any other arena.

The interior finishes will provide the look and feel of a more formal atmosphere as opposed to the concrete corridors of the past. The glass-enclosed grand lobbies will establish a strong sense of arrival and an ambiance of excitement. The exterior of the building will become a landmark with a distinctive plane of glass that slices through the curved face of the arena.



TIM ROMANI

PRESIDENT, ASCENT ARENA COMPANY, LLC
GENERAL MANAGER, PEPSI CENTER



The new Pepsi Center, the state-of-the-art arena that will launch the Rocky Mountain Region into a new generation of sports and entertainment, is the latest challenge for Tim Romani. Romani, who joined the Ascent Entertainment Group in March of 1995 as the head of the Ascent Arena Company, is responsible for the overall planning, implementation, construction and operation of the $160 million Pepsi Center development.

Romani will also be responsible for the developments adjacent to the Pepsi Center, which will include a mix of specialty retail, restaurant and office projects totaling almost 200,000 square-feet. Those projects are planned to coincide with the Pepsi Center development and help create an entertainment zone that will accelerate the vitalization of Denver's Central Platte Valley.

Immediately prior to coming to Denver, Romani was the executive director of the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority, a quasi-governmental organization responsible for constructing and operating sports and entertainment facilities throughout the state of Illinois. In that capacity, he provided overall management and direction for the $250 million Comiskey Park development, home of Major League Baseball's Chicago White Sox. The planning and construction of the 45,000-seat ballpark was completed in just 37 months and at a final cost that was $2.1 million under budget.

Romani has also served in stadium advisory capacities in Cleveland, Indianapolis, Seattle, San Jose and Denver.

Before entering the sports facility industry, Romani was the project manager for the Illinois Capital Development Board from 1987-88. There, he supervised the design and construction of 15 public projects totaling more than $95 million. He was also a special assistant to Illinois Governor James R. Thompson from 1984-85 and was directly responsible for all gubernatorial communications, scheduling and governmental affairs.

Romani received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois in 1984 and his master's degree in finance and strategic planning from Long Beach State in 1987. He and his wife, Angela, reside in suburban Denver with their two daughters.

MCNICHOLS SPORTS ARENA

In 1972, Denver area voters passed a $10 million bond to build a new indoor sports arena. With the building, land and parking areas, the cost of the project totalled $16 million. The architectural firm of Sink/Combs designed the arena with fan comfort as their No. 1 concern and thus designed the seating with a sharper skyward angle to allow fans to be closer to the action or event.

Ground breaking took place in 1973 and on August 22, 1975, McNichols Sports Arena opened with Lawrence Welk and his orchestra playing to a sold-out crowd of 19,000.

McNichols has been the home of seven professional sports franchises - the Nuggets since 1975; the Denver Spurs of the American Hockey League (1975-76); the Colorado Rockies of the NHL (1976-82); the Colorado Flames of the International Hockey League (1982-84); the Denver Dynamite of the Arena Football League (1987, '89-90); the Denver Avalanche of the Major Indoor Soccer League (1980-82) and the Denver Grizzlies of the IHL (1994-95). McNichols is also home to the NHL Colorado Avalanche, which moved to Denver from Quebec in the summer of 1995.

Seating capacity of the arena is 17,171 for basketball, 16,061 for hockey and up to 19,000 for concerts.

McNichols Sports Arena is constructed on 40 acres of land and has parking for 4,700 cars. When added to the spaces of Mile High Stadium (5,300), total parking for the sports complex is 10,000. The arena's oval structure covers 10 million cubic feet, 300,000 of which is usable space.

The arena hosts an average of 160 events each year and was the site of the first ever Slam Dunk Contest, held during the 1976 ABA All Star Game. Other events held in the arena include ice shows, prep regular-season and post-season contests, concerts, religious conventions, boxing matches, professional wrestling, rodeos and circuses.

During his visit to the Mile High City in 1993, Pope John Paul II performed mass at McNichols during World Youth Day festivities. Average attendance in the arena exceeds 1.8 million spectators per year.

In 1987, a $14 million remodeling and improvements project added many patron amenities such as a new Video Diamond Vision II, a closed-circuit TV system throughout the arena, a wider concourse, a new sound system, private suites, improved concession stands and four restaurants. Special "Hustle Boards" were added in 1992 to keep fans up to date with ongoing statistics during basketball and hockey games. A Sico Fold-N-Set stage was added during the summer of 1994 to increase the arena's versatility and to help speed up the process of setting up and tearing down for each event.

We will accommodate other media personnel there when possible, but space is rarely available. The other press areas are located in first four rows of Section 63, center court, and the last five rows of section 15.

PRESS DINING ROOM: The media dining area is located in the South tunnel of McNichols Sports Arena. Food and beverages will be available to the working media beginning two hours prior to the game through tip-off. The dining room is open for soft drinks at halftime.

PRESS WORK ROOM: The working press room is located at court level on the East side of McNichols Sports Arena. The working press room is equipped with telephones, electrical outlets, a stats monitor and a television for media use only. We must limit access to the working press room to media members filing stories. It is impossible to accommodate family, friends and guests. The Nuggets will rely on media members to maintain a courteous, professional atmosphere in the working press room.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Credentialed photographers may shoot from the baseline on the West side of the basket standards behind the red line on the floor. Photographers are not allowed in front of any on-court signage. Free-lance photographers will not be granted credentials unless they are on specific assignment from a magazine or newspaper and there is space available. The Nuggets require a letter of request from an editor to verify any credential applications by free-lancers. The Nuggets ask that photographers please be considerate of season ticket holders seated behind them.

STATISTICAL SERVICES: Game notes and other pertinent statistical information will be in the working press room 90 minutes prior to tip-off. Play-by-play, quarter, halftime and final boxscore sheets will be distributed in all press areas. Out-of-town scores will be delivered to broadcast crews on press row and displayed on the facia scoreboards. Quote sheets will be available as soon as possible following the game in the working press room.

INTERVIEWS: The visiting team's head coach will generally conduct post-game interviews in the portal outside the visiting lockerroom, located in the Southeast corner of the arena. Nuggets Head Coach Bill Hanzlik will hold his post-game interview in lockerroom No. 4, located just across the hall from the Nuggets lockerroom, also in the Southeast corner. Interviews with players are possible up to 45 minutes prior to the game and following a 10-minute cooling off period after the game, as NBA regulations outline. Again, the Nuggets will rely on media members to maintain a courteous, professional atmosphere in the lockerrooms. NO AUTOGRAPHS ARE ALLOWED DURING INTERVIEW PERIODS. Failure to comply with these rules may result in the forfeiture of your credential.

PRACTICES: The Nuggets generally hold practices and gameday shootarounds at 10:00 a.m. at McNichols Sports Arena or the University of Denver. Practice times and sites are always subject to change, so a word to the wise: if you plan on covering a practice or shootaround, call the Nuggets Media Relations Department for confirmation.
